Discussion

We discussed the list of simple types that are used by the XML Registry and Repository to classify simple elements and the implications of using these types as part of the core main schema. There was general agreement that this was something worth pursuing. David indicated that these types could be added as part of the dictionary of core main in CAM.

Action Items

- David will incorporate a field in the CAM that will support the R&R type list
- Michael will send the core main spreadsheet with definitions to David once the CCB has completed them
